

Please do not alter Indiana's current telephone privacy law or lessen its impact by implementing a law with lesser protection for residents. I receive fewer intrusive telemarketing calls now than I did in the past. As a marketing professional I know there are a variety of ways for companies to sell their products and services, and they do not need to invade the privacy of my home. I teach part-time and have two small children, so the time we have together is valuable and I do not like being interrupted when we are doing homework, eating dinner, or spending our time together. When I am in a buying mode I do my research and listen to companies, but I do not want to be bothered at home. Thank you.
